ELAINE REED

Bio

Elaine (she/her) has something to say. All the time.

Since it's not reasonable or productive - two things she occasionally tries to be - to talk twenty-four hours a day, she writes books. Her focus is women's fiction and contemporary romance, though she also dabbles in short stories and essays.

When she isn't writing, she can be found exploring Charleston, taking in live music, and searching for shark teeth on the beach with her family.
