

Say hi to Lauren Reed!

Have you ever heard about the #bookstagram? Lauren Reed, member of The Charleston Friends of the Library, is also part of this online community on Instagram, and now she is our book reviewer. How awesome! Please, say hi to her and stay tuned for honest book reviews!

Hello friends!

My name is Lauren and I'm a passionate lover of books. Also, cats, puzzles and peoples' stories. I'm from Northeastern Vermont, very near the Canadian border, but have lived in Charleston for almost eight years. I have three children, one in college and two that I home educate with a philosophy of "living books". These are narrative style books that engage the reader and instill compassion, while delivering facts and events. This means many books pass through our house, leaving me so grateful for my local library and their fantastic book sales. Nothing makes me happier than encouraging or inspiring others to read, so I look forward to being a part of the CHS Friends of the Library volunteer team!
